Louroe's Aggression Detector Audio Analytics Software

An audio analytics software package that easily integrates with Louroe's mic-level microphones, select Axis IP cameras, and leading VMSs, the Aggression Detector automatically & objectively detects rising human aggression, anger or fear, and triggers an alarm. This early notification can quickly warn security staff about escalating situations, allowing them to immediately respond and help prevent physical aggression from occurring. Additionally, the system also provides reports, making the problem of aggression measurable.

Benefits:

- Adds accuracy to existing security system
- Can be proactive in deterrence of altercations
- Superior sound detection
- Easy integration
- Acoustic events provide additional & unique information on specific incidents that video surveillance may miss

Other News & Notes

Tech Tip from Bosch Selecting HTTP vs RCP+ Protocols

The implementation of HTTP as the default protocol is specifically for remote system communications. Switching to RCP+ is a valid solution for local video devices and appliances, as well as for remote devices connected via a VPN.
